Welcome.

Royal Holloway Students' Union (RHSU) exists for one simple reason: to make student life better at Royal Holloway. It's this vision that guides everything we do as an organisation and we firmly believe that with the right people and a commitment to our values we can deliver huge change on campus.

And that's where you come in. If successful in your campaign you'll join the Vice President Education in sitting on the 30 member council and represent the voice of students on campus, ensuring that the College takes seriously the opinion of your peers.

This voluntary role will give you a unique opportunity to work alongside the College Principle and Heads of Departments, giving you an insight into the decision making process of a major multi-million pound organisation.

Alongside this you'll have the opportunity to learn about stakeholder management and how long term strategy planning can impact on different communities including both current and future students.

Reporting to the College Council – which is responsible for the overall strategy and policy-making process at the University – the Academic Board make decisions regarding the academic experience on campus.

In plain English, that's looking at the teaching, examinations and research taking place at Royal Holloway and mapping out their impact on you and your fellow students.

It is expected that you will attend Academic Board meetings across the year - there's a minimum of one per term.

Any registered student is eligible to be a candidate for the role of Academic Board Rep.

Myth Buster.

Is it true you can only run for one role in the elections?

You can in fact run for multiple roles, but only in certain circumstances. Some roles even complement each other, such as the Student Trustee and NUS Delegate, so it's worth considering running for more than one role. There's a table on the website that shows you what roles complement each other perfectly.
