GUIDE TO STANDING

SU ELECTIONS

Who can stand in the SU Elections?

All current Royal Holloway students can stand in the Students' Union Elections. It doesn't matter if you're part-way through your studies (you can take a year out) or graduating this year, nor does it matter what course you're studying.

The Students' Union is here to represent all students at Royal Holloway so we're searching for students from all walks of life and all areas of study.

There's a range of both full-time paid and part-time voluntary positions available, all of which will enable you to learn a whole host of new skills while developing your leadership abilities.

Full-Time Positions

Full-time positions require you to take a year out from your study if you aren't in your final year. You will receive a salary of £22,704 per annum (inclusive of London Allowance) and have 22 days holiday, plus bank holidays and an extra seven days off during the Christmas period.

- President
- Vice-President Education
- Vice-President Societies & Media
- Vice-President Sport
- Vice-President Welfare & Diversity

Part-Time Positions

Part-time positions are voluntary and are designed to run alongside your studies.

- Student Trustee
- College Council Representative
- NUS Delegate

Is there anyone who can't stand?

Most of the positions available in the SU Elections are open to all Royal Holloway students. However, the full-time positions have additional criteria which is stipulated in charity law due to the trustee aspect of the roles. You can't stand for these roles if:

- You have an unspent conviction for an offence involving dishonesty or deception
- You are currently declared bankrupt, subject to bankrupt restrictions or are subject to an interim order
- You have an individual voluntary arrangement to pay off debts with creditors
- You are disqualified from being a company director
- You have previously been removed as a trustee by either the Charity Commission or the high court due to misconduct or mismanagement.
- If you have already been a full-time President or Vice-President of Royal Holloway Students' Union for two years.

How do I nominate myself?

Nominating yourself is really easy. Simply head over to the online nomination form on the Students' Union website, fill it in and hit the submit button to join the election.

Nominations open at 09:00 Monday 30 January and close at 23:59 Wednesday 22 February 2017.

What is a manifesto?

You're required to submit a manifesto as part of the nomination process. This is your chance to state what you intend to do should you get elected. It includes what you would do for students and the Students' Union.

Your manifesto will be available for voters to see online and in the Candidate Guide which is released on the week that voting opens, so it's important to think about how you can make the most of this opportunity.

There's a strict limit of 400 words on your online manifesto while you have a 200 word limit for your Candidate Guide version of your manifesto.

For the Candidate Guide you need to answer the following questions:

- Why do you think you're the best person for the role?
- What would you like to achieve in this role?
- In a sentence why should people vote for you?

*Please do not use bullet points within your Candidate Guide manifesto as space is limited.

Want to know more about writing a manifesto? Read the 'Writing a Successful Manifesto' guide or email the Student Voice team at voice@su.rhul.ac.uk to organise a time to come in and have a chat.

Is there a budget to adhere to?

To ensure that the SU Elections are fair all candidates must adhere to set budgets. At the end of the campaign period you need to submit your budget along with receipts for all the costs you have incurred using the official budget form found here.

Candidates for Sabbatical Officer positions are allowed to spend up to £50 of their own money on campaign resources (non-refundable). The Students' Union will provide £10 worth of printing without charge and up to six campaign team t-shirts.

Candidates for part-time voluntary positions are allowed to spend up to £20 of their own money on campaign resources (non-refundable). There is no printing or t-shirt allowance for these roles.

It's worth thinking about your campaign expenditure early on so that you can plan your main areas of spend but also remember that it's not always the candidate who spends the most that wins – so use your budget effectively and use the mantra, quality over quantity.

Are there workshops available?

To help you plan your campaign there's a number of workshops and meeting slots available aimed at developing your ideas and giving you further context on the Students' Union.

Campaign Planning 1-2-1 – Optional

Meet members of our Student Voice team who have previous experience of running for election themselves. They'll help you to pin down the key areas of a campaign and guide you in a number of key areas including the importance of a campaign team, planning your key campaign timings and the need for a coherent and impactful manifesto.

- 6 & 8 February – Please email voice@su.rhul.ac.uk to book a time slot.

Chief Executive Discussion Slots – Optional

Heading up the staff team at the Students' Union is the Chief Executive, Tom Flynn. His role is ensuring the Union heads in the right direction and he has an intimate knowledge of all things Royal Holloway while his experience in Students' Union elections stretches back over a decade. This is your chance to sit down with him and discuss the Students' Union, the threats and opportunities on the horizon and any other questions relating to the Union, College and national policy you may have.

- 13 & 15 February – Please email voice@su.rhul.ac.uk to book a time slot.

Candidate Briefing – Mandatory

At the end of the nomination period you'll need to come down to the candidate briefing session. This mandatory event will detail the rules and regulations of the SU Elections, give you updates around campaign timings, information on the results night along with further event information for Candidate Question Time and Candidate Breakfasts.

- The date and location of this briefing will be sent to all candidates electronically.
